

Slight Fire in Sheffield The Chemical Engine Tried

Shortly before three o'clock the Sheffield Fire Brigade received a message through the police telephone that their services were required in Franklin Street, at a house occupied by William Goodacre. The brigade turned out for the first time with the new chemical engine under the charge of Mr. Beasley. It was found that some clothing in the garret was alight. A jet was run out, and in a few minutes the flames were extinguished. The outbreak was caused through children playing with matches, and the damage will amount to £3. The work of the new engine was entirely successful.
